Match No. 5

Date: 18th May 2008.

Venue: Stallance Reservoir, Kent.

Conditions: A cloudy & mixed start to the day with a gusty ever changing cold wind but with long sunny periods later in the day; the water level was low, 18" lower than normal, this gives cause for concern as the feed to the res. had been shut off. This is constantly spring feed all the year round.

Summary: A good turn out with high hopes for some good weights. It was decided play it safe & try the established small reservoir as this was a known venue, the larger one being a bit of a unknown quantity fishing wise, only fairly recently been stocked
Most concentrated on the pole or waggler to begin with then switching to the feeder in desperation. For the majority it was hard work, the small Carp didn't materialize as had hoped with only two competitors able to get into them in any numbers. The catches were mostly made up of very small Roach; double red maggots seemed to be the bait of the day.
